

A photograph of a steel mill interior. Several long, glowing orange-red metal beams are being processed on a conveyor system. The background shows industrial structures, including walkways and railings, under dim lighting. The overall scene is dark, with the primary light source being the heat of the metal.

USO DEL HIDRÓGENO EN LA PRODUCCIÓN DE ACERO